A word from the Ambassador

Dear Friends of Switzerland,

2011 is slowly drawing to an end, and again we can look back to a year of many highlights. The first semester saw prominent visits of Federal Councillor Didier Burkhalter and Federal Councillor Ueli Maurer to Beijing, and the visit of H.E. Yang Jiechi, China's Minister of Foreign Affairs, to Switzerland, as well as several other political high-level contacts. These contacts have been instrumental in re-enforcing our existing, as well as identifying additional areas of cooperation: Among the new frameworks of cooperation signed between the two countries in the last year are a joint statement on the intensification of the Sino-Swiss Science and Technology Cooperation Program, a joint declaration on bilateral cooperation in the field of health, a Memorandum of Understanding on development cooperation and a Memorandum of Understanding regarding cooperation on Labor and Employment issues.

The on-going substantiation of cooperation has been palpable, with exchanges on expert level and implementation of projects across the board.

Furthermore, Sino-Swiss cultural exchange has been thriving. This autumn, we are being treated to some outstanding artistic highlights. The performances of the highly acclaimed Béjart Ballet in Beijing in October were a rousing success. And we can look forward to the concerts of the Tonhalle Orchester Zürich, one of the most widely recognised orchestras internationally, in Shanghai and Beijing in early November.

Finally, I would like to inform you of the arrival of my new Deputy Head of Mission, Ms Salome Meyer, who has joined us from London in September. I take this opportunity to thank her predecessor, Mrs Krystyna Marty, for her great contribution to the Swiss community and the bilateral relations between our two countries. Mrs Marty has been appointed Switzerland's Ambassador to the Republic of Kosovo.

I wish you and your families a bright autumn and extend my best wishes for a very festive season.

With my best regards,
Blaise Godet

Dear Friends of Switzerland,

Having arrived in Beijing in September, I am still very much absorbed by the many new impressions. The dynamism and the spirit of Beijing, and of the country as a whole, is extraordinary, and I feel privileged to be serving at one of our most important missions abroad at a time when bilateral relations between Switzerland and China continue to grow, strengthen and deepen. I have no doubt that my posting will be both inspiring and rewarding and I greatly look forward to meeting many Swiss citizens in China.

With my best regards,
Salome Meyer

“Return to Spiritual Home” exhibition

September 3rd saw the opening of the exhibition “Return to Spiritual Home”, a collective show of Swiss and Chinese photographers and painters. The eclectic ways to explore our inner world, may it be on Ma Ning’s 4m wide canvas displaying signs of love, anxiety, doubt or freedom by colorful brush strokes, on Victoria Higgin’s quiet images of the Alps and their avalanche barriers or on Leonie Hunn’s abstract and geometric expression of her return to the home of her ancestors in Villars, in the very sober framework of the EMG Art Center Beijing, created a unique opportunity, through art, to mull over our own “spiritual home”. The exhibition runs until November 3rd.

Swiss dancing DA MOTUS! at Beijing Fringe Festival

From September 7th to 11th, the Swiss dance troupe DA MOTUS! performed in the framework of the Beijing Fringe Festival, on stage as well as in an outdoor performance, a rare event in the Chinese capital. DA MOTUS! leitmotiv: We are in constant metamorphose, nothing in life is eternal. Time changes, our relationships and values alter. As companions of waning time, changes are a steady guide on our movements through life. Do changes also mean chance, luck? Is renewal not a symbol for life forces and development? The allegorical scenes created by the dancers from Fribourg could not have found a better cradle than Beijing and its ultra rapid development to express constant change. This project was supported by Pro Helvetia.

The “Switzerland drifting tour”: Oy & Feldermelder

On September 15th in Yu Gong Yi Shan club, a crowd of electronic music aficionados was catered by some of the most promising Swiss performers in the field. In the first part, DJ Feldermelder’s soundscape, from ambient to beat music and psyche rock, was supported by VJ Fichtre’s visual creations: images made of one line, bouncing and twisting on the beats of Feldermelder to create characters, animals and other objects born in the mind of this creative graphic designer. Electronic musician Oy followed in the second part of the gig, with her full orchestra of puppets, her sharp lyrics and solid sound for a show which derision was only surpassed by its poetry. This project was supported by Pro Helvetia.

SDC also signed MoUs with Shaxi City in the Bai minority area as well as the Jianchuan district in the Dali prefecture and therefore includes for the first time a rural municipal district in the low-carbon city network.

Both coordinate internal and external communication as well as meetings, special events, official high ranking visitors coming from Switzerland and all official trips for the Ambassador. The Office acts as a resource manager to best execute the Ambassador's priorities and objectives which at time have to be changed on short notice. The Office is a dream job for anyone seeking to work in diplomacy behind the scene, under both pressure and performance, constantly facilitating the access to internal and external visitors seeking to meet and greet the Ambassador and especially to consult him for his insights and advice. Former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher stated: "...if you want anything said, ask a man; if you want anything done, ask a woman."
