Our cultural department is working hard on many events taking place after the summer break. Find out below what's in planning, along with a few words from Switzerland Tourism in regards to their special year.

concerning this news.

Switzerland Tourism Summer Campaign: "Back to Nature"

Summer Campaign "Back to Nature" ©Switzerland Tourism

Recently Switzerland Tourism has announced the theme of 2017 summer campaign "Back to nature".

A series of market researches show that Switzerland's "nature" is a key factor attracting global tourists to the country. People who live amid the hustle and bustle of cities have a growing need for nature. Fresh air and water, flourishing flora and fauna, and exotic landscapes bring immense benefits to people's physical and mental wellness. Thanks to its diverse tourist resources, Switzerland offers visitors different types of natural experience. The theme of

"Back to nature" encourages visitors to dive into nature, taste local food and attend featured events, experience and stay in an alpine hut, and observe wildlife in a breath-taking environment, thus enjoying the best way of immersing themselves in picturesque nature.

2017 also marks the 100th anniversary of Switzerland Tourism. According to Mr. Simon Bosshart, Director for Asia Pacific of Switzerland Tourism, cantons of Switzerland combined their tourism resources and officially founded Switzerland Tourism in 1917. Over the past 100 years, Switzerland Tourism has developed from an information and ticketing office into a key promotional agency which is committed to advertising Swiss tourist destinations and promoting the tourism industry.

In this issue of The Bridge we address the topic of investing in China and how dramatically fast this has changed since the opening to foreign investments.

Crucial to China's success as the global leader in world trade is the behind-the-scenes role played by banks in supporting the flow of money and investments it requires. Eugene Qian, Chairman of UBS China Strategy Board, talks to The Bridge about the bank's success in China, its services, and the trade relationship between Switzerland and the mainland.

Directly selling to Chinese customers can be a big investment for Swiss companies, but it is getting easier. The Bridge speaks to Alfonso Troisi, Country Manager of Nespresso, about its experience of bringing premium coffee to Chinese consumers.
