I hope you all survived the tropical summer and found some time to enjoy the beautiful autumn days in Shanghai. In this busy city, time flies by in high-speed and the year of the rooster draws to an end - however there is still a lot to come! Enjoy reading through the news and recent events below.

But first, it's my pleasure to take you on a quick journey back to what has happened during summer and autumn - one of the highlights was certainly our first Joint Economic Mission with the Embassy in Beijing to Wuhan, at the end of October. Another outstanding event was the Ambassador's briefing delivered by Dr. Jean-Jacques de Dardel, two weeks ago.

Furthermore in this newsletter, you can meet our new team members Ms. Meret Reifler and Mr. Gabriel Ruggli. Meret Reifler is the successor of Fabio Müller, Trade Promotion Director Swiss Business Hub China and Head of the Shanghai Office. Gabriel Ruggli is our new academic intern. While both of them met challenges to adapt to local peculiarities, they instantly became part of our well-working team.

Since this is the last issue of “Grüezi Shanghai” of this year, I hereby already like to wish you a wonderful Christmas season and a good start into the New Year. I look forward to seeing you in 2018.

Have an enjoyable read!

Alexander Hoffet

Gabriel was born and raised in Zurich and Winterthur. After having touched China firstly through a self-opened Smartphone repair shop, he soon decided to focus on this country in his studies, which he started in 2014 in Zurich. He obtained his Bachelor's degree in Political Science, Law and Sinology from the University of Zurich in summer 2017.

Gabriel gained first experiences in China in an exchange semester in 2015 at the East China Normal University (ECNU) in Shanghai. There he took classes in Chinese and fell for the energetic and vigorous side of China. In his free time he enjoys playing basketball and badminton.

Economic Mission to Wuhan

Consul General Alexander Hoffet accompanied the first joint Economic Mission with the Swiss Embassy between

On October 30 – November 1, 2017, the Swiss Embassy in Beijing and the Consulate in Shanghai organized with the support of SwissCham the first joint Economic Mission to Wuhan.

Led by the Swiss Ambassador, the delegation consisted of 26 members representing 19 Swiss companies and organizations. Their program consisted of meetings with municipal and provincial leaders as well as matchmaking events and visits with the local industry.

Next to the good feedback of the delegation members and their strong wish to participate in possible next missions, concrete fruits of the delegation are within reach: Several companies had follow-up meetings with their potential clients/partners and signed a MoU concerning a local cooperation on November 13.

New media art exhibition

unREAL. The Algorithmic Present

What is real? Art has always been a testbed of this notion. The exhibition unReal. The Algorithmic Present is a coproduction realized by Chronus Art Center (CAC Shanghai) and House of Electronic Arts (HeK Basel), under the auspices of Pro Helvetia Shanghai.

Installation view at House of Electronic Arts Basel. Photographer: Gina Folly. Courtesy of the artists. Provided by Chronus Art Center and Pro Helvetia Shanghai, Swiss Arts Council.

It premiered at HeK from June to August earlier this year, before its presentation at CAC from November 11, 2017 to January 21, 2018.

This exhibition shows the audience how to confront their daily digital reality of bits and bytes through 23 works by international artists. Several works on display are specifically realized for this exhibition, such as new creations by Swiss artists Cod.Act, Pe Lang and Zahra Poonawala.

By presenting poetic installations and immersive projections, this exhibition reveals a new reality that situates itself in the materiality of media informed by data fluxes. Such is exactly the core of our contemporary experience.

China at the Zhenjiang International Low
Carbon Expo 2017 @GK SHA

Yves Morath's Forum Speech emphasized not only on the significance of Cleantech in Switzerland but also on the fruitful

Sino-Swiss cooperation in this sector.

Switzerland and China are working together in many areas of environmental protection and climate change mitigation. The Sino-Swiss Low Carbon Cities (SSLCC) project and the Sino-Swiss Zhenjiang Ecological Industry Park are great examples for this good collaboration. Our countries will continue the strong collaboration and advance together into a low carbon future!

Ms. Meret Reifler, New Trade Promotion Director SBH China / Head of Shanghai Office

Portrait Meret Reifler ©RFE

Meret Reifler was born in Basel where she spent her childhood years before her family moved to Grellingen, Basel-Country. Later she studied International Relations at the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva. Upon graduation she decided to move to China to make her own assessment of China's extremely fast economic development. In Beijing she learned Chinese at Tsinghua University and worked as a freelancer for a Swiss start-up. When she left China to join Swiss Re's emerging risk management team in Zürich in 2013, she was sure to come back. Mrs Reifler continued working in the insurance industry for the Baloise

Group and on her assignment at Öbu, an association for sustainable Business tailored to Swiss SMEs.

This September 2017 Mrs Reifler started as the Trade Promotion Director at the Swiss Business Hub China in Shanghai. She supports Swiss companies in their export endeavors. Together with her team she bridges the needs and interests between them and their local partners or experts. It is what she deeply enjoys about her job – helping to build something new and overcoming hurdles.

New colleagues to the team

The Bund Shanghai ©ISG

With the last warming rays of sunlight, this beautiful autumn comes to an end. We gently prepare for the next year already.

Since the last “Grüezi” we welcomed new colleagues to the team. Dr. Felix Moesner joined the team as new CEO in August and settled with his family.

A couple of weeks later Ms. Yuan JING, Project Leader Academic Relations and Ms. Jing QIN, Project Leader Communication, joined the team. New faces in swissnex China’s Shanghai office and you will see and meet them on upcoming events for sure!

We shook about 600 visitor's hands

EMBA University of Zurich ©ISG

The hot summer did not prevent us from slowing things down. We shook about 600 visitor’s hands and shared insights on how to do business in China.

Depending on the requirements of the visiting groups, we prepared more tailored programs, which had been very well received. For example for this year’s EMBA

University of Zurich, we prepared a small work shop, where the students gained insights from two local experts present. It gave them the opportunity to ask detailed questions, and to benefit from their experience in doing business in China.

For the agenda

Here's what's keeping us busy in the next weeks and months to come:

27. Nov. CSEM Technology Workshop in Shanghai

05. Dec. Drug Discovery Event Shanghai

If you would like to know more about these events, or meet up with us, do not hesitate to get in touch with us or drop by!!

You find news on our website, through our postings on wechat, Facebook, LinkedIn and of course by signing up to our newsletter!

See you soon!

In this issue of The Bridge, the topic of managing the problem of piracy is addressed, as well as what can be done in order to achieve the best results. As China is moving towards an innovation economy, the necessity for a stronger protection of IP rights is growing, which is why we explore this concern in this issue of The Bridge.

It is also our pleasure to present you with an interview with Sinodis' CEO
